

Culinary experience

Increasingly, Poznań is being dubbed the culinary capital of Poland by many gourmands. Is this title well-deserved?

Undoubtedly, the restaurant, bar and cafe offer is exceedingly rich. Spread evenly all around Poznań, eateries brighten up more and more nooks and crannies of the city. Tourists and residents alike discover further emerging establishments, exchanging their impressions, and the chefs do their very best to satisfy the ever-growing expectations. In the city itself there are some 800 places that cater to the general public. They serve a range of dishes from all over the world, oriental, typical national European as well as vegan and vegetarian cuisine. Traditional Polish dishes are also available. Among them are tens of restaurants recommended by prestigious culinary Gault&Millau Poland Yellow Guide.
