In by Spławski is a perfect illustration of the concept of "author's cuisine". What do we expect from such places? Innovation, fantasy and the feeling that we are experiencing something unique or out of the box. We can find all this in the dishes of chef Spławski. For some it will be an extraordinary experience, for others it may be a bit incomprehensible. If you are looking for impressions, artistry in the kitchen and treat cooking as another horizon of your interests, then you've hit the jackpot. If you are looking for calories, a solid portion and flavors that you know well, please visit the section with recommendations for regional and home cuisine. We will come back for sure. With great pleasure!
