

Wooden Railway Station in Puszczykówko

The restored wooden railway station in Puszczykówko was constructed in 1911.

It has a light, wooden structure and the architecture typical for summer resorts. The station has a wooden roof with a visible historic clock in a stylish turret. It comprises two waiting halls – a summer and winter one.